

March 2017 Photo Album

March was a busy month! We attended an art show to raise support for the project, hosted lots of visitors—from long-time supporters to a youth group—we enjoyed a beautiful hike through God’s nature, and said “see-ya-later” to the Zaldaña family. Everyday had both good moments and bad moments...and God was always gracious, loving and faithful.

An Artistic Evening

One evening, friends of the project hosted an art exposition, which was a huge success! Much of the diplomatic community was in attendance, and more than 200 people came to enjoy the art and learn more about the Micah Project.

During the event, some Micah guys performed a skit about what it's like to live on the streets. It was very powerful and informative—as well as therapeutic for the guys.

Saying Goodbye

This month, we also said “see ya later,” to the Zaldaña family. They’ve moved to El Salvador to start a ministry called “Micah Life,” which will also work with street-connected youth. You can learn more at www.micah.life.

Welcoming Visitors

This month, we were also blessed by lots of visitors! Some long-time Micah family members as well as a youth group from St. Louis came down to serve and encourage our guys and staff members. What a blessing!

Enjoying Nature

We also spent a lovely day hiking in “La Tigra” national park. It’s such a gorgeous part of this country, and we think it’s important that the guys learn to praise God for the beauty of his creation.

CPC Mission Trip

Having the youth group from Central Presbyterian Church in St. Louis, Mo. visit was such a blessing! This group of teens and adult leaders came with such spirits of service and encouragement. We had lots of fun and did some great work!

Street Ministry

Our street ministry continues to mature and grow. Hector and Olvin, who lead our street team, are full of such love and wisdom. Their abilities to minister to street-connected youth, showing them God's love and encouraging them to make healthy decisions, is a huge asset to the Micah family. Please keep the young people they care for in your prayers. We humbly ask that you'd specifically consider Luis (top right & bottom left) and Victor (bottom right), who both used to live in the Micah house but are back on the streets struggling to overcome its temptations.

Life at Micah

March brought lots of fun memories—like celebrating Jilder’s birthday! Through the good and the bad, we continue to smile because the Lord is good!
